DISSERTATION

“This Mutual Visionary Life”: The Mystical Model of Margaret Fuller explores the development and analyzes the importance of Margaret Fuller’s religious thought, especially its mystical elements, by documenting the backgrounds and transformations of her spiritual beliefs and the ways in which these beliefs informed her public performances as student, teacher, journalist, and political activist. It particularly examines her relations to contemporary social phenomena such as anti-Catholicism, mesmerism, transcendentalism, women’s rights, educational reform, and the rise of the newspaper, and identifies her unique contributions to American religious culture.
